INVADE SOUTH FRANCE

All Landings Succeed

ROME, Aug. 15 (AP)—All the landings in southern France were successful, it was announced late today. A special communique said: "By mid-morning all landings were proceeding successfully according to schedule against only light ground opposition and no air opposition. The supporting air-borne operation was also successfully executed."

New Invasion On; South France Hit

By EDWARD KENNEDY

ROME, Aug. 15 (AP)—A great Allied army swarmed over the beaches of Southern France today between Marseille and Nice after thousands of airborne troops had dropped behind German coastal fortifications. American, British and French assault forces reached their first objectives within an hour, field dispatches said.

Flying at 1000 feet over the beaches, Associated Press War Correspondent Kenneth Dixon said that an hour after the landings began at 8 a. m. (2 a. m., Eastern War Time) "as far as 20 miles inland a complete lack of any kind of a struggle marks the rugged landscape." (See Dixon's story on Page 9.)

The landings were made in calm, clear weather, exactly on schedule.

All early reports indicated resistance at the initial stages was much less than anticipated.

GEN. GEO. S. PATTON, JR.

Patton Leads Drive on Nazis

ALLIED COMMAND POST IN NORMANDY, Aug. 15 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower announced today that Lt. Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., 'Old Blood and Guts" of the Tunisian and Sicilian campaigns, is leading the American Third Army which has driven roughshod over the Germans in lower Normandy and Brittany.

Since Aug. 1 the Third Army had effected the cutoff of the Breton peninsula and helped close a trap on the German seventh army with a spectacular sweep northward from Le Mans.

A French division of armor under Brig. Gen. Jacques Leclerc, who joined the Allies from Lake Chad in Africa, is fighting with Patton.

Eisenhower said Patton had been placed in his accustomed role as a dashing man on a marching wing—where he belongs.

The announcement confirmed something most everyone, including the Germans, had guessed.

Senate Group O. K.'s Patton's Promotion

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—The Senate military committee voted unanimously today to recommend Senate confirmation for promotion of Lt. Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., to the permanent rank of major general.

The committee had held up the nomination since last October because of a soldier slapping incident during the Sicilian campaign.

Mrs. Patton Delighted To Know of Hubby's Job

HAMILTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—Mrs. George S. Patton, Jr., said today: "I am delighted to know where he is and that he is on the kind of a job he has trained himself for since 1918. I hear regularly from myhusband, but his letters ares trictly confined to questions of the family."

Front in Italy Remains Quiet

ROME, Aug. 15 (AP)—Fifth Army patrols engaged in a sharp fight three miles southeast of Pontedra. Otherwise the Italian front remained quiet except for artillery fire.

Reds Attack New German Defense Line

By DANIEL DE LUCE

MOSCOW, Aug. 15 (AP)—Russian forces started attacking freshly dug German entrenchments today in front of Grajewo, two miles south of the East Prussian border, after cracking the steel and concrete forts around Osowiec and winning a bridgehead across the Biebrza river.

Gen. Zakharov threw the offensive might of his second White Russian army against the Germans' attempts to reorganize their frontier line just below the Masurian lakes.

A thundering bombardment from the air supported the Red army attack.

"The waters of the Biebrza ran dark with enemy blood today," a front dispatch to Izvestia said.

Not only Grajewo but Lyck in East Prussia, 12 miles to the north, was menaced by the two Russian army groups.

HMS Rodney Hits Foe 75 Times

H. M. S. RODNEY
Big Guns Shell Nazis

By JOHN A. MOROSO, 3D

ABOARD H. M. S. RODNEY, Aug. 12 (Delayed) (AP)—The valiant 38,000-ton British battleship Rodney swooped down on the channel island of Alderney today and poured 75 rounds of one-ton 16-inch shells into a Nazi battery.

The Rodney, one of the world's heaviest armed ships, is the principal heroine in the sinking of the Bismarck.

This was a fantastic affair. We anchored in deliberate, methodical British fashion and for two hours and 31 minutes the Rodney pumped high explosive shells into the battery 20 miles away.

The first shot from a cold gun, traveling more than 16,000 feet high, landed 300 yards from the target. The officers corrected the range and on the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth shots made direct hits on Nazi guns.

Pilots, from whose planes parachutists jumped a little before dawn, said they encountered little or no ack-ack.

The greatest naval force ever to strike a blow in the Mediterranean—more than 800 ships, including battleships — landed the troops and backed them up with an intense covering fire.

ALL-ALLIED WAR FLEET

Naval units participating included American, British, French, Canadian, Netherlands, Polish, Greek and Belgian ships.

(Although there was no mention of specific units involved in the invasion, Donald Coe, Blue Network correspondent, messaged he could disclose "the major part of the landing forces was composed of American troops.")

The landings were made at several points along a broad section of the coast at places widely separated from each other.

(A German communique said the Allied landings were on a 70-mile section, between Toulon and Cannes. The official German news agency, DNB, broadcast the Allies first made a diversionary attempt on the Bay of Bormes, 25 miles east of Toulon, which was frustrated.)

The coast line from Marseille to Nice had bristled with big guns installed by the Germans to beat off just such an attack as came this morning, but these had been terrifically attacked by Allied air forces in an intensive four-day offensive in which thousands of tons of bombs were dropped.

BEACH GUNS KNOCKED OUT

An hour before the first troops were landed the beaches were left a spectacle of devastation by a final load of air bombs.

This new invasion of Europe opened up the fourth major front against Hitler, one that may well prove the death blow to the Germans.

The swarms of landing craft did not begin disgorging fighters and armor until after daylight, but parachute, glider-borne troops were streaming into southern France before dawn.

The parachutists descended on several German strongpoints inland.

"The assault, which was in strong force, was led by specially trained Allied troops, many of them veterans of previous invasions and campaigns in the Mediterranean theater," Allied headquarters announced.

"This brief special communique was issued by Gen. Sir Henry Maitland Wilson, supreme Allied commander in the Mediterranean theater, to tell of the new invasion:

"Today American, British and French troops strongly supported by Allied air forces are being landed by American, British and French fleets on the southern coast of France."

APPEAL TO FRENCH

Announcement of the invasion was accompanied by an appeal from Gen. Wilson to the French

Nazis' Zero Hour

LONDON, Aug. 15 (INS)—The Nazi DNB agency, catching on like a flash, told the home front today "the supreme hour has struck and we mustn't underestimate the seriousness of the position."

SOUTH FRANCE—Heavy lines from Marseille to Nice show invasion front as reported by Allies, while area between (A) Toulon and (B) Cannes, a 70-mile stretch, was reported as the invasion district by the Germans.

Vise Tightens On German 7th

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Aug. 15 (AP) — Allied armies clamped a giant nutcracker on France today, hitting with a massive invasion in the south even as the dying German Seventh Army struggled in an inexorably tightening Normandy trap 450 miles to the north.

Four separate American, British and Canadian armies, squeezing upon Field Marshal von Kluge's forces of perhaps 100,000 to 200,000 men, pinched his escape gap below Falaise to only 10 miles, and sealed that off with a wall of bombs and shells.

The powerful new Mediterranean invasion, opening a fourth major front, is designed to chase the Germans from France, and link with Eisenhower's warriors 400 miles to the north in Normandy and Brittany.

Von Kluge writhed in a coffin pocket already narrowed to half its earlier size, and apparently was putting up a forced last stand. Little movement was observed overnight in the Falaise escape hatch.

(Berlin broadcasts said "a violent battle unprecedented in living memory is being fought" for this narrow gap.)

Biting off this final avenue of flight were the American Third Army commanded by Lt. Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., and the Canadian First Army pounding down from north of Falaise, and now within 2½ miles of that communications center. Patton was 8 miles below Falaise.

The American First Army pressed in from the west, aided by the British Second between it and the Canadians.

A half-dozen more towns fell as the drawstring tightened all around the Normandy pocket.

The Canadians, topping their 6000-yard assault yesterday with a new surge on a two-mile front, captured Epaney and Hill 184 and advanced within 2½ miles of Falaise, sweeping up at least 1000 prisoners.

A front dispatch said the value of Falaise was all but lost to the Germans since the Canadians from positions on high ground north of the city dominated escape routes eastward to Lisueux and Paris.

NORTH FRANCE—Yank forces led by Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., are today pushing north of Argenton to meet Canadians and British forces smashing at Falaise as the German 7th Army struggles bitterly

Pal Tells of Rescuing Polio-Stricken Flier

The rescue of 2 Lt. Robert Wesselhoeft, Jr., 27-year-old Westwood airman and socialite, never may reach the Hollywood casting stage, but for ingenuity, raw courage and com-radely devotion it ranks with the deeds of Dr. Wassell.

It is the story of many men—Army Air Force comrades, missionaries, Chinese soldiers and hundreds of recruited coolies. But most of all it is the story of Lt. John E. Partanen, an air force pal, who for 17 days and nights worked ceaselessly to bring the polio-stricken Wesselhoeft from the Chinese hinterlands to a Calcutta hospital.

The two officers had trained together in Colorado and went overseas together.

Modestly and almost apologetically, Partanen has chronicled the entire saga in a letter to the victim's wife, Nancy, now summering at Chatham, who has been assured her husband rapidly is recovering and soon will be home.

When the human endurance of his pals wore out, Partanen trained Chinese soldiers to keep Wesselhoeft alive by manual artificial respiration.

This is his long description, penned from somewhere in China to Mrs. Wesselhoeft—a letter that always will be cherished by the victim's two youngsters, Marjorie, 3, and Robert, Jr., 3 months:

Somewhere in China,
July 28, 1944

Dear Nancy:

I scarcely know how to begin this letter for it seems so empty to say that I am sorry for what happened to Wess. He was my friend and staunch comrade in many adventures, and that fate should strike such a bitter blow was scarcely believable.

AS IT HAPPENED

Since he is my friend, and I hope that you will count me as your friend also, I will simply tell the story as it happened and what Sgt. Foushee, myself and others did to give him a fighting chance. Perhaps it may sound that we were inadequate, but we did the utmost to the limits of our knowledge and physical ability and devotion for a brave man and a true friend.

On the 23d of June we were on the trail heading for our last point and out for a rest and vacation. We were still in the wild and forbidding mountains of China.

On that day Wess complained of a sore throat and felt very tired. At the end of the day he pitched his tent and went to sleep without supper. He assured me that he felt all right except for being tired. As the trip and the day were arduous, I felt that he would be all right.

NECK, BACK STIFF

The following morning Wess complained of a very stiff back and neck. He had a slight fever and spoke to me of malaria. I asked if he felt he could go on and he said he felt he could do it. Painfully he climbed on his mule and the long day began. I rode behind Wess and we talked as cheerfully as we could.

He wanted to try to reach the town, for a British missionary was there and he felt he could rest up there. At noon Wess found some boards and, making a bed of them, fell asleep. The stiff back and neck were worse, but this he attributed to riding a mule.

That afternoon Wess stuck on to the mule by guts and determination; at intervals we stopped

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 15—The most surprising story of the year in Hollywood is the separation of Cary Grant and his wife, Barbara Hutton.

Mrs. Grant today verified the separation and moved out of her home to live with a friend until her matrimonial affairs are straightened out.

She and Cary had planned to separate in June, but after the suit filed by her former husband, Kurt Haugwitz-Reventlow, and after her little son, Lance, aged 9, was taken to Vancouver, B. C., by his father, all ideas of any kind of parting were postponed.

Cary said he wanted to stand by her in her battle for her child.

Today Barbara said:

"There is no chance of a reconciliation, and I think it's unfair and dishonest to take advantage of the name of my husband and to seek his protection because I am fighting to hold my child."

HE MOVES IN, SHE MOVES OUT

It was revealed that Cary had moved out of their Brentwood mansion about a week ago. Sunday he came back to the house to discuss with her the chances of a reconciliation. She said she thought it was better for both to part now, since apparently Cary wasn't happy and was only remaining because of her trouble.

Cary Grant

She went for a drive later with her cousin, Capt. James Donahue, and when she returned Cary had moved back all his clothes and had returned. It was then Barbara herself moved out.

No one has had a more tragic life than this "poor little rich girl" whose money brought her anything but happiness.

FIRST HUSBAND KILLED

When very young, she married Prince Alex Mdivani. After they parted, he was killed in a motor accident. Later, she became the wife of the former Danish nobleman, Count Kurt Haugwitz-Reventlow. Through his influence, she gave up her American citizenship and it has caused her heartache and grief. She also gave the count a fortune said to be $3,000,000.

When she married Cary, in 1942, everyone thought and hoped Barbara's troubles were over.

Add Heat Woes--Ice Shortage!

Increased demands during the current hot spell threaten the Greater Boston area with a serious shortage of ice, dealers said today.

"The ice situation is plenty tight," declared J. Clark Bennett, executive of Metropolitan Ice Co. "The demand is up 25 to 30 per cent and we can't keep up with it."

Reserves are running low, and two more days of hot weather will cause a serious shortage, according to Harry E. Small, sales manager of Boston Ice Co.

"If an east wind comes along, we'll get by," Small said. "Right now our 11 storage plants are low and we're bringing ice in from suburban points."

Household and food demands for ice will get priority during the emergency, Bennett said.

Similar emergencies were reported in New York city, New Jersey and Connecticut.

"There's nothing else for Boston to do but expect four more days of abnormal heat," Noyes declared.

No Heat Relief Before Friday

"No relief in sight before Friday at the earliest."

That doleful prediction was made by the weatherman today as Greater Boston's unparalleled heat wave shoved the mercury up into the middle 90's for the fifth consecutive day.

Comparative temperatures during the morning indicated today would be as hot as any of its predecessors. At 10:30 the mercury stood at 87 degrees, exactly the same mark for the same hour as recorded on Sunday and Monday.

Sweltering Bostonians could find solace in the fact humidity was 15 per cent below yesterday's uncomfortable mark. The humidity registered 54 per cent at 10:30 compared with 68 at the same hour Monday.

Weather Bureau Chief G. Harold Noyes said temporary relief "might possibly" come this afternoon in the form of scattered thunder showers.

"As far as actual discomfort is concerned New England residents are suffering just as much as those in Death Valley, Cal.," Noyes said. "There are millions here but only a few persons in Death Valley."

The forecast for the next four days, Wednesday through Saturday, showed that the temperature will average more than five degrees above normal.

Continued hot weather tomorrow and Wednesday "may" be followed by cooler late Friday or Saturday.

Rainfall, badly needed to salvage some part of the state's Victory Gardens and farm crops, will average only one-half an inch in scattered showers.

Peace Goods Get Go Signal

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—Rules which will permit business and labor to swing into civilian production when war contracts are curtailed were ordered into effect by the War Production Board today.

The action by Chairman Donald M. Nelson will permit individual manufacturers—if they have workers and machinery not needed for war—to produce several hundred prohibited consumer items although stern limitations on manpower and materials will prevent any large increase "for the time being."

WPB field offices in all major cities will now be empowered to make "spot" or local authorizations to manufacturers to go into civilian goods production if they have labor and machinery not needed for war work.

ARTICLES LISTED

Preferred articles include vacuum cleaners, electric ranges, gas but not electric refrigerators, wringers and mangles but not washing machines, lawn mowers, electric heaters and heating pads, oil burners, bicycles virtually all types of enameled and cast iron ware, metal office furniture, sewing machines, church goods, electric fans, water heaters and storage batteries.

Simpler items include ash cans, coal hods, funnels, pails and buckets, wash tubs, enameled percolators, egg beaters, clothes hangers, pot scourers, carpet sweepers, wash boards, electric irons, hair pins and bobbie pins.

Prize Fish Story

BLOCK ISLAND, Aug. 15 (AP)—Capt. Paul Campbell of Martha's Vineyard has the story to end all fish stories.

Dragging with his 38-foot fishing boat, Little David, Capt. Campbell felt the deck shudder beneath him and his boat began moving backward. He cut loose his $400 drag gear to save his ship from foundering.

As the craft lurched free, a smoke bomb shot into the air and splashed back into the water. A submarine surfaced about a quarter mile astern and continued on its way.

The incident occurred Thursday. Capt. Campbell had confirmation today of his fish story—from a Navy public relations officer at New London.

NY Night Club Sale To Bring City Taxes

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (AP)—City collector Reid has scheduled a public sale of fixtures of La Vie Parisienne night club for 11 a. m., Friday, to satisfy city tax and penalty claims of $13,461.

The Stork club and Copacabana also have been cited by the city for taxes.

Listens to War On 105th Birthday

PORTLAND, Me., Aug. 15 (AP)—Jeremiah Campbellton observed his 105th birthday today, somewhat bothered by the heat, but with his still sharp ears close to the radio listening to the war news.

The aged man, who was kidnaped by Micmac Indians at the age of 9 and lived with them as captive for six years, hasn't required the services of a doctor for four years.

Although blind for several years, he is able to maneuver about the home of his daughter, Mrs. Margaret Hughes, and goes outdoors occasionally.

Campbellton and his wife, who died in 1923, had 16 children, five of whom are living.

Republican Leaders Discuss Dewey-Bricker Boy State Campaign

Women May Carry State for Dewey

Ending his visit to Boston, Herbert Brownell, Jr., Republican national committee chairman, reported today he was tremendously encouraged by political reports from throughout Massachusetts, and predicted women will play a vital role in favor of the Dewey-Bricker ticket.

"Women now hold the balance of power in a national election for the first time in history," Brownell said. "We plan an organization of 300,000 women in the nation and 30,000 in Massachusetts alone.

"They will make a door-to-door canvas, conduct schools of politics, hold neighborhood meetings, engage in a telephone campaign and drive cars to the polls on election day."

Brownell said women would cast 60 per cent of the vote. Although declining to take Massachusetts out of the doubtful column, he said the state has "the right leadership and is carefully organized."

CONFERS WITH LEADERS

The chairman held conferences with Gov. Saltonstall, U. S. Sen. Sinclair Weeks and Cong. Joe Martin, minority leader in the House.

He expressed the opinion that the New Deal no longer is the Democratic party.

Brookline Flier Risks Life in Sea Rescue

How a Brookline flier, Lt. Charles F. Rowley, Jr., and a companion risked fuel failure over the Pacific, 130 miles from their carrier, to help rescue of two downed aviators, was disclosed by the Navy today.

Their gas supply dangerously low, Lt. Rowley and Lt. Henry F. Manget, in Avenger torpedo planes, circled the two men in the water until a destroyer was directed to the spot.

Swingsters Save Longhairs

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 15 (AP)—A dozen toprate swing bands are going to keep the hepcats jumping for three solid evenings in a jive jamboree arranged to erase the $25,000 deficit of the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra. And what do you know? The longhairs think it's a swell idea!

The musical roster for this jitterbug's dream next Friday, Saturday and Sunday includes Harry James, Tommy Dorsey, Phil Harris leading Kay Kyser's orchestra, Freddie Martin, Frankie Masters, Hal McIntyre, Joe Reichman, Jack Teagarden, Al Donahue, Ted Streater, Emil Coleman and Matty Malneck.

Symphony Conductor Leopold Stokowski, regarded in jive circles as a good sport, commented: "I think this is very generous of the swing bands. All music is one. After all, it's only a difference of form. If one form can help the other, who should object?"

Said Morton Gould, American composer and conductor: "Considering that so-called jazz has taken freely and sometimes literally from the classics, this is perhaps one way for jazz to reciprocate."

To Jose Iturbi, concert pianist and conductor, it's the democratic way. "There shouldn't be any boundaries in music. After all, I do it, too. Have you heard my boogie-woogie?"

Just a year ago, when Frankie (The Verce) Sinatra invaded Hollywood Bowl, the wailing and breast-beating was audible as far away as Ash Flat, Ark.

Nation Shares Kennedy Grief Over Loss of Son

Leaders of the nation today mourned with former Ambassador to Great Britain Joseph P. Kennedy the loss of his eldest son and namesake, killed on a volunteer Naval air mission in the European theater.

Naval Aviation Lt. Joseph P. Kennedy, Jr., 29, was killed in an explosion while on a hero's mission, but wartime secrecy guards the details of his gallant death.

He had completed 50 missions on operational flights over the Bay of Biscay, seeking out Nazi submarine packs, and had just passed a chance for a furlough.

The young flier is believed to have lost his life on an experimental mission over the robot bomb sites on the Calais coast, but a complete account of the tragedy is not expected to be disclosed until those death-dealing Nazi nests have been bombed and burned into oblivion.

Meanwhile, telegrams from every part of the nation poured in on the griefstricken former ambassador at his summer home in Hyannis.

FAMILY AT MASS

The other members of the family were deeply affected. All attended a solemn pro-burial mass of requiem at St. Francis Xavier Church, Hyannis.

It was the church where "Joe" had gone to Sunday school as a boy and later had worshipped during a brief furlough last August, a year ago, just before going overseas. He had been overseas since.

With the father at his summer estate is John F. Fitzgerald, former mayor of Boston, and the young flier's grandfather. Mrs. Kennedy, the boy's mother is the former Rose Fitzgerald, and the family consists of four boys and five girls.

AT SISTER'S BRIDAL

A brother, Lt. John F. Kennedy, is now a patient at Chelsea Naval Hospital. He was recently awarded the Navy Cross for gallantry in action and was the hero of the famed PT boat warfare in the Pacific.

A sister is Kathleen who last May became the bride of Lord Hartington in London. Other sisters are Rosemary, Eunice, Patricia and Jeane and the brothers are Robert and Edward.

Joseph was the only member of the family present at the ceremony which united the daughter of an American family with the son of one of England's oldest houses of nobility.

A younger brother Robert, 18, enlisted in the Navy last November.

He received his preliminary training at the Squantum Naval Air Station and won his wings as an aviator and his commission as an ensign in May 1942 at the Jacksonville, Fla., Naval Air Station.

Revere Officer Risks Life To 'Disarm' Bombs in Air

The Flying Fortress, "Chute the Works," was in a bad way, over the Cherboug peninsula, in danger of being blown to smithereens by its own bombs, until Lt. Bernard H. Taff of Campbell ave., Revere, took his life in his hands and saved the day.

The 23-year-old bombardier's exploit was disclosed today by the Eighth Air Force Bomber Command in England. It stated:

"At 'bombs away,' over the objective, a Nazi military installation on the front lines at the base of the peninsula, two of the fort's bombs stuck, and six more piled on top of them. Two of the vanes whirled off, leaving those bombs 'fully armed,' that is, ready to explode at the slightest pressure in the nose. The vanes on two other bombs were hanging, almost off.

The pilot dropped out of formation. Taff stood above the open bomb bay. One after another he pulled the fuses from the bombs, handing them to sergeant gunners. The bombs couldn't be dropped while the plane was above France, for fear of killing civilians. Later they were flung into the English Channel.

Taff's wife, Eunice, mother of their 9-mons-old daughter, was told of the incident.

"I'm thrilled to pieces," she said, "but a little bit scared, too. I'm proud of him but I want him to come home and see the baby, Carol Lee. He hasn't seen her since she was 3 weeks old."

French Fliers

WITH ALLIED AIR FORCES IN SOUTHERN FRANCE, Aug. 15 (AP)—Flying Frenchmen of the famous Lafayette Escadrille and sister squadrons who unleashed their Thunderbolts over their native land today carried leaves from a tree in France next to their hearts as they flew.

A French major supplied the leaves. He was strafing a train over France not long ago and swept so low he hit a tree and a big bunch of leaves came back with his plane. He divided them among his fellow pilots.

Rescue

and rested. The pack train got ahead of us in these intervals, as I had told Sgt. Foushee that we would go on to the town and to stay with the pack train.

A short hour and a half from our goal Wess and I were caught in a great cloudburst. We lost our trail, and by the time we found it again the trail was blocked by torrential freshets from the mountains.

FIND SHELTER

It was now late and we were both soaked. With a leaden heart I turned back to a small Chinese village to find shelter and warmth.

By luck a pack horse had been cut off with us, the load consisting of one sleeping bag, musette bags and the camera. Two Liso boys were with us and got us into a house. Immediately we got a fire going and our wet clothes off. Wess was tucked into half of the sleeping bag.

For supper the Liso boys prepared up a bowl of hot cornmeal mush and vegetables. This we ate hungrily. Wess went to sleep. For me there was the fearful realization and torment that I had a desperately sick man on my hands.

The morning of the 25th, Wess told me that he was very ill and that he didn't know if he could make it. I told him that we had better try to go on, and by supreme effort he made it onto his mule. I shall never understand how he endured the ride into town.

There he fell from his mule and Sgt. Foushee and I half carried him to an upstairs room of the mission house and put him to bed. He slept all day and at evening felt better. He had a light supper and went to sleep.

On the 26th, in the morning, he still seemed better but wanted to sleep, so we left him alone. At noon his legs were paralyzed. I feared infantile paralysis and sent a radio message to an American airbase, requesting medical aid and describing Wess' illness.

The rest of the dramatic story of the rescue of Lt. Wesselhoeft will be told in tomorrow's Boston Evening American.

Patton Army Speed Cracks War Record

By WES GALLAGHER

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Aug. 15 (AP)—Lt. Gen. Patton, hitting the comeback trail after the soldier-slapping incident in Sicily, can point to a brilliant drive in Brittany as justification of the faith Gen. Eisenhower held in him.

Under the cool, reasoned strategy laid down by Lt. Gen. Bradley, who was Patton's subordinate in Sicily, the colorful American tank expert has driven his Third Army across Brittany and toward Le Mans with a speed no army ever made before.

When Bradley launched the great breakout offensive July 25, all American forces were parts of the U. S. First Army. Then, as the campaign hit high gear, Aug. 1, a small segment was broken off the First Army and placed under Patton for the push down the west coast of the Cherbourg peninsula, through Coutances, down the coast to Avranches and out into Brittany.

PATTON DARING DAZZLES

Over night Patton's front expanded from a few miles to hundreds of miles, fed through the narrow corridor down the west coast of the Cherbourg peninsula.

It was no place for a faint-hearted commander. If the corridor was cut, the entire army would be stranded.

Bradley assumed responsibility for the risk, and Patton, riding often at the head of his tank columns, turned the delicate situation into a solid victory.

Patton's audacity made many military men gasp. He sent his armored forces driving for Brest, Lorient and Nantes. These cut through the disorganized German forces as if they were cheese. Often American units were surrounded by Germans and had to send out tanks to escort their supplies across the peninsula.

Mechanized cavalry detachments of fast tanks fanned out as task forces, cutting German pockets up in smaller and smaller units and spreading confusion.

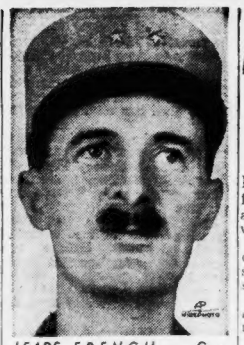
UNDERGROUND HELPS

The French underground did the rest. The patriots burst into the open and rounded up pockets behind the armored forces, acting as supporting infantry. In a few days the Brest peninsula was firmly held, with the Germans corraled in Lorient, Brest and St. Nazaire, awaiting American disposal.

As late as two days ago it was possible to drive 60 or 70 miles in Brittany without seeing an American soldier. Patton had put a new meaning into lightning warfare.

Meanwhile Bradley turned the first army east to protect Patton's flank and halted a German effort to drive through to Avranches.

Although busy at the Brittany ports, Patton turned fresh troops and tank columns north toward Le Mans and Paris in a brilliant encircling move still in progress.



LEADS FRENCH — Gen. Jacques Leclerc, who won fame in the North African desert, is leading the Second French Armored Division which has been in action under U. S. Gen. Patton in France since late July.

Bradley Is Equal To Monty Now

By JAMES F. KING

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Aug. 15 (AP)—Gen. Eisenhower has taken personal charge of operations in the invasion with establishment of an American Army group under Lt. Gen. Bradley on an equal status with the British-Canadian command of Gen. Montgomery.

Bradley's group—the 12th—is composed of at least two armies, the First and the Third. Bradley was succeeded by Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges as commander of the First Army. Command of the newly formed Third went to Lt. Gen. George S. Patton, Jr.

Both Montgomery and Bradley report direct to Eisenhower.

Canadian Casualties

WITH THE CANADIAN FIRST ARMY, Aug. 15 (AP)—British heavy bombers dropped a number of explosives behind Canadian lines yesterday while assaulting German positions, causing a number of casualties.

Eisenhower Can't See 'V-Day' Yet

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, Aug. 15, (AP)—At today's press conference, Gen. Eisenhower, guardedly optimistic, summarized the situation in one of the war's most critical periods—for the Germans. Eisenhower warned that a man who attempts to measure the length of the war remaining in terms of weeks is not attempting to use any logic, but merely hunches and wishful thinking.

Hitler has nothing to lose by fighting to the last man, he continued, and with the people fighting under the heel of a despot and not in the "spontaneous co-operation of free people" as President Wilson said, there is no reason to expect them to quit until the bitter end.

Eisenhower viewed the Germans' present plight as a result of the mistake of holding too long and under-estimating the strength in the marching wing under Patton.

Eisenhower reiterated he was not interested in the capture of Paris. His aim is to defeat the German army wherever he finds it.

Eyewitness Story Of Glider Invasion

By KENNETH DIXON

ON A B-25 MITCHELL BOMBER OVER SOUTHERN FRANCE, Aug. 15 (AP)—So far as I could see from 1000 feet above the beaches where Allies smashed ashore an hour ago, no major fighting had yet developed.

As far as 20 miles inland a complete lack of any sign of struggle marked the rugged landscape.

From this vantage point the new Allied blows seemed to be meeting almost no resistance.

There was plenty of visual evidence the preliminary stages—parachute and glider landings—were successful.

We came in with the first wave of glider troops. Miles inland they cut loose from C-47 tow planes and glided into little meadows between rugged crags.

With the exception of a few which crashed into ditches and fences or overturned the gliders seemed to make it safely.

NO SHOTS FIRED AT US

Nowhere was there any resistance. We sometimes got as low as 200 or 300 feet over the treetops and not a shot was fired.

First sign of movement as scores of gliders skidded to a stop in clouds of dust came from near an overturned, badly wrecked glider. A small machine moved bettle-like from under the wing of a nearby glider and headed toward the one in trouble.

"There goes the first airborne jeep into action in southern France," said Cpl. Luneback of Chicago, the bomber's 22-year-old radio operator.

Out at sea there was a complete lack of gun flashes or other sign of action. Although we only traversed the northern sector of the beachhead and, due to fleecy clouds and low altitude could not observe the entire area, still we were unable to note any stiff resistance.

GLIDER BLOWS UP

When I last flew over this sector two weeks ago the coast was alive with flak. This morning, although hundreds of Allied planes were operating, I did not see one shot down.

Once we thought we were in a flak zone when one glider disintegrated in the air. This, however, was still far from the coast of France and theer was no apparent explanation.

Pieces flew in all directions. Bodies of the men aboard seemed like giant scarecrows hurled into space, standing out starkly for a moment against the sunrise, then tumbling to splash into the sea.

While it was impossible to check accurately the terrain marked out on the map, it seemed from just overhead all troops had been landed on or near designated spots.

As we flew over the inland area every previously planned landing spot was well-marked. However, most of the marking was unnecessary because of thousands of parachutes outlining the areas.

Nazis Take NY Writer?

LONDON, Aug. 15 (AP)—The German Transocean News Agency said today that "Gowen," war correspondent of the New York Sun had been taken prisoner in France.

(The Sun's correspondent is Gault MacGowan."

Allies Open 4th Front in Southern France

people to "play their part" in the new battle of France.

Wilson declared the objective of the troops now ashore in the south was "to drive out the Germans and join up with the Allied armies advancing from Normandy."

"The army of France is in being again, fighting on its own soil for the liberation of its country with all its traditions of victory behind it," his broadcast proclamation said. "Remember 1918!"

The Allies have been massing men and materials for months on Corsica, about 130 miles southeast of the coast of France at Nice across the Ligurian sea, and only yesterday the Berlin radio reported large Allied convoys had been observed passing Gibraltar into the Mediterranean.

A broadcast by the Nazi-controlled Vichy radio yesterday said the German army commander at Marseille, France's second largest city, had ordered evacuation from that seaport of all persons whose presence "is not of direct or indirect interest" to the German army.

CLOSE ON 100,000 NAZIS

The operations opened as American, British, Canadian and other Allied troops in Normandy-Brittany were closing in on between 100,000 and 200,000 Germans for what Gen. Eisenhower said promised to be a major victory for Allied arms.

The Allies drove into the area that Prime Minister Winston Churchill once called "the soft underbelly" of Europe just 69 days after Gen. Eisenhower's forces invaded western Europe.

Prime Minister Churchill himself was close at hand as this new blow was landed upon the enemy. He arrived in Italy last Friday.

Canadian first army troops meanwhile slugged forward today only two and a half miles from Falaise, whose value to the Germans is all but lost through Canadian domination from the high ground north of the city of the escape routes eastward to Lisieux and Paris.

Sweeping up at least 1000 prisoners in an offensive launched at noon yesterday, the Canadians drove far south of Epaney, where a battle now rages.

A dispatch from Barcelona, Spain, on Aug. 9, said the Germans had withdrawn, troops from the section of southern France bordering on Spain but that few troops had been moved from the actual coast.

Marseille, located on the gulf, 20 miles east of the Rhone river's mouth and about the same distance west of Toulon, is France's second largest city, with a population of 914,000, and is one of the nation's largest ports.

The naval base on Toulon was the last bit of France to be taken by the Germans. When Hitler tried to grab the French fleet on Nov. 27, 1942, there were 75 French ships in the great harbor, but French naval men scuttled 44 to 51 warships and damaged others before the Germans could lay hands on them. A few ships escaped to the Allies.

Other principal cities on the French Mediterranean coast are Nice, Avignon, Nimes, Montpellier, Cette, Beziers, Narbonne and Perpignan.

Lads Hope to Copy Brothers' Heroism

By HUCK FINNEGAN

NORTHERN IRELAND—This division has yet to make its mark in the war (it will), but several of the soldiers herein have brothers who already have figured in the headlines.

Corp. John J. Galzerano, 37, of 117 Maverick st., East Boston, has a brother, Capt. Samuel, who completed 52 missions in the So. Pacific, and awarded the DFC, Silver Star and five Oak Leaf Clusters. Capt. Sam was sent back to the States with a "well done, lad," and is now a flying instructor at Columbia, S. C.

S-Sgt. Gordon G. Benn, 25, of 65 Fairmont ave., Pawtucket, has a brother Wilnam, 23, who completed 32 missions in the So. Pacific, and who has been awarded the DFC, Silver Star and three Oak Leaf Clusters. He's now a flying instructor in So. Dakota, and only two months back was chosen to represent the air corps in a celebration at Madison Sq. Garden.

PFC Forrest Greenberg

S-Sgt. Gordon G. Benn

Pvt. Antonio Tartari
Wellesley

Pvt. Antonio Tartari, 31, of 13 Donizetie st., Wellesley, had a brother, Ensign Joseph, 25, killed in Oakland, Calif., while teaching a cadet to fly.

PFC Forrest Greenberg, 35, of 40 Brockton ave., Haverhill, has or had a brother Sideny, 25, in the Army Air Corps, who hasn't been heard from since seizure of the Philippines. Nobody knows whether he was killed or is in a Jap prison camp.

IN JAP PRISON CAMP

Pvt. Franklin J. Crosby, 25, of 577 Mass. ave., learned less than a year ago that brother Harvey, 27, has been in a Jap prison camp in Manila since '41. He had been believed killed.

Cpl. Galzerano has always been a wanderer. Twenty years ago he enlisted in the National Guard (East Newton st.) served three years, later sailed most of the seven seas on the Savannah and McCormack lines. He was a paper-maker in Rumford, Me., when selective service brought him into the ranks on March 17, '41.

"I was to have been discharged Dec. 10 of the same year," says Galzerano. "Because I was over 28. But something happened on Dec. 7 that has kept me on the go."

He won't be going much after the war, however, because wife Mary Ann (Cormier of Pierce st., Hyde Park) and baby Sandra Lee ("I've never seen her") are awaiting him.

Sgt. Benn, single, graduated from Pawtucket High, attended Bryant Business College and worked a year for Lorraine Manufacturing Co., Pawtucket, before he shouldered a gun on March 1, 1941. Parents: Mr. and Mrs. Albert.

IN WELLESLEY P. O.

Pvt. Tartari is married, (wife, Della), and has a son, James Anthony, 20 months. He graduated from Wellesley High in '32, worked in the Wellesley Post Office. Parents: Mr. and Mrs. Alphonse.

PFC Greenberg graduated from Haverhill High in '28, worked in Portsmouth Navy Yard prior to induction. Besides Sidney, he has a brother, Harry, staff sergeant in the Air Corps in England. ("I haven't seen him in two years.") Parents: Mr. and Mrs. Max. Greenberg was quite pleased recently when he met Nurse Mary McTigue of Newburyport, and Terry McCarthy of Lawrence. "Nice to meet somebody from home."

His brother Mike was a crack football and basketball player at Haverhill a few years back, and captained the quintet that won the Tech. basket tournament.

"Bet it's real nice back home," said Greenberg, as he watched the cold rain fall, and he named Vinnie Di Burro's restaurant near the depot, and Will Trumbull's pool room, as places he'd like to be.

Greenberg was about to sail from the West Coast when his orders were changed. He crossed country, came to England. "I've traveled a lot, but haven't seen much," he said.

BROTHER IN AIR CORPS

Pvt. Crosby, single, has a brother, Lt. Robert, 19, in the air corps as well as the brother interned in a Jap prison camp. Crosby was a free lance carpenter in civilian life, and made the corner of So. Huntington ave. and Heath st. his hangout.

He's an old National Guarder, and has been in uniform since the guard was federalized on Jan. 15, 1940.

He spent three years with the 26th Division, and tired of traversing the states, volunteered for overseas duty. He was hoping he'd meet his pal, John Stoltz, in England, but so far hasn't been successful.

There is more food in North Ireland restaurants than in England. Sides of beef are displayed in shop windows, and even fresh eggs are procurable . . . A youngster of five here had never seen an orange until a kindly lieutenant handed him one. Nor had he ever seen an electric light . . . Incidentally, it doesn't get dark in June or July until well past midnight.

Not being done in Boston: A girl of 12 helping her father on the garbage wagon . . . cattle being sold in public squares . . . women of 55 riding bicycles along country roads . . . pubs being closed at 9 p. m. . . . everybody going to bed in daylight.

STABBED IN THE BACK BY ARTHRITIS

NOW is the time of the year when Arthritis is on the loose, stabbing victim after victim with its deadly dagger of pain. If you are one of those unfortunate people, here is important information for you to know. Many people suffering from nagging arthritis pains in back, knees, shoulders and hands, never suspect that these pains may be caused, in some cases, by excessive acids within the body.

As a dietary aid to the faster neutralization of these excessive acids, which in turn may tend to bring speedier pain relief to this extent, Vig-Oro Sodeom Tablets were devised by a well-known food nutritionist. Vig-Oro Sodeom Tablets contain food sodium and food iodine, two minerals of nutritional value which may prove to be helpful to many arthritis sufferers. MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Sunshine Ruinous for Our Eyes

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

THESE ARE DAYS when eye comfort . . . perhaps more than anything else . . . can help us to keep up appearances and maintain a facial freshness too often robbed by dripping beads of water bubbles. The glaring sunlight and the debilitating effects of the torrid heat work havoc . . . not only on our ambition . . . but on our eyes . . . those delicate organisms which suffer at the slightest provocation.

Sunshine may be a great source of vitamin D for body health . . . but it is ruinous for our eyes . . . often making us squint and fatiguing them beyond endurance. And, when eyes lack sparkle . . . our whole countenance takes on that drawn, droop look. The beauty-wise gal would knowingly subscribe to a daily routine of washing out the orbs much in the same manner as she cleanses her hands and pursues a daily routine of health and body freshness.

EYE BATH DAILY MUST

And eye bath is a daily must in hot or cold weather with me. It is amazing the amount of comfort and verve you can derive the moment the eye cup . . . filled with a cool, soothing liquid . . . touches the eye and holds it in comfort and deliciousness. As for us . . . we couldn't survive a day . . . without a twice-a-day . . . morning and night . . . eye bath ritual to keep our eyes bright and functioning.

This eye bath is a product of a traditionally famous name cosmetic house. The wash is a magic remover of eye fatigue. Keep it in the refrigerator that it may be cold when you use it . . . and when you do . . . see if your eyes don't open up wide . . . and your head clear out as though a lead weight had been lifted. We can't speak too highly of an eye wash . . . especially this one.

For the name of this eye brightener and opener-upper, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

BEACH RELAXATION is divine for the health-giving properties of the sun . . . but don't get too much in your eyes . . . to fatigue and burn them that they give a drawn, droopy look to your face. Eyes MUST look beautiful . . . and if they seem smoky and tired . . . wash them daily with a de luxe name eye bath . . . that will restore sparkle and vigor to your facial personality. My Day

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

-:-

HYDE PARK, Monday—The past few days have been so warm the only comfortable spot for anyone is in the swimming pool. In weather like this I feel very sorry for people who can't swim, because even though you can cool off in the bathtub, it is not quite as sociable as sitting around a pool.

I find, however, that even in weather such as this, if you keep busy you think about it less—and, willy-nilly, we had to be busy yesterday because the number of our daytime guests increased.

We chose the top of the hill as the coolest place and the one most likely to have a breeze. We sat in comparative comfort after our lunch and listened to Miss Doris Fleeson of the Woman's Home Companion tell us of her experiences in Normandy.

SHE WAS THERE a week ago, looking at the devastation and talking to our men. She lived for days in a French woman's house. She talked with French women and children, and in telling us about it brought out very clearly the picture of day-by-day conditions.

This part of France was relatively fortunate. Transportation had been so disrupted that there was no market left outside of this rich farming area for its products, and the people have therefore suffered less from hunger. The Germans, too, have actually been less harsh, since they could have all the food they wanted for their garrisons and still leave enough for the people.

AS WE ADVANCE to other parts of France, the story will be different in regard to the physical condition of such people as are left. Miss Fleeson explained that no community is normal, for in addition to the men still absent as prisoners of war, the remaining men and women of working age have been removed to work in Germany.

As a result, the towns and villages consist predominantly of children and older men and women.

Since this column has already acknowledged yesterday one of my previous errors, I should like to say that when I was in North Carolina the other day, it was The Piedmont Hotel at which we had breakfast in Waynesville. I thought it was a club, but it turns out that I was wrong.

Copy MacArthur's Jacket

By BETTINA BEDWELL

GEN. MacARTHUR'S bush jacket is being copied for American girls to wear at college next month, and for any other girl who fancies it. Claire McCardell, the young designer whose spectacular success is the talk of the style world, designed this bush jacket, and Miss Dubin has sketched it for you to see. In the model sketched the jacket is made very grand by its material, which is a gleaming bright green satin, but it also comes in sturdier, less dressy fabrics.

It is shown here with slacks, but that also is only one of its companions of the campus. It pairs also with skirts and dresses. The slacks sketched are for lounging and are black satin with a pattern of green dots set irregularly over the slacks.

Pure Poetry Seen In Neat Salad Dish

By MARTHA LEE

A WELL-MIXED SALAD BOWL can be a thing of pure poetry. A variety of greens, crisp and delicate, mild and spicy, blended with French dressing, pointed up with the teasing flavor of scallions or new garden onions is one of the true delights and rewards for summer gardeners who would dramatize victory garden produce to the utmost.

Both the cultivated and the wild varieties of greens have important food values to lend to everyday dining.

SALAD TECHNIQUE

Just a simple assortment of greens alone, mixed well with French dressing—is a happy accompaniment to any dinner or supper. But for true summer elegance—and the chief attraction at a buffet supper—add to assorted greens some generous wedges of ripe tomato, sliced cucumber, avocado and olives. Some light, some deep-toned greens, the richness of red tomatoes, the tropic mellowness of avocado are a wonderful treat to the eye alone. And the combination of flavors—at once natural and exotic, artfully blended with French dressing—is something to make the most particular guest call this the blue ribbon salad of the season.

SUMMER SALAD

2 large tomatoes 1 cucumber
1 avocado
8 stuffed olives
6 fresh green onions
Romaine Leaf lettuce
French dressing

Peel and cut the tomatoes into wedges. Score the unpeeled cucumber with a fork and slice thinly. Peel and slice the avocado. Slice the olives and green onions. Arrange the vegetables in a salad bowl lined with romaine and lettuce. Serve with French dressing.

If you are looking for something new and different in the salad line, variegated salad will suit your purpose to perfection. Avocado rings filled with cubed cling peaches are attractive to look at and with a tart French dressing afford singular eating pleasure.

VARIEGATED SALAD

Avocado rings Lemon juice
Salt Salad greens for garnish
Canned cling peaches, or fresh peaches
Chopped red radishes
French dressing

To prepare avocado rings, cut fruit into halves crosswise and remove seed. Cut each half into rings of desired width and remove skin (rings may be formed from solid stem and slices by cutting around the center of each slice). Sprinkle the rings with lemon juice and salt, and arrange on garnished salad plates. Fill centers with cubed peaches and sprinkle with a few pieces of chopped radishes. Serve French dressing separately.

Many times, it is the dressing that makes a salad a success. And it is so easy to vary dressings with herbs and spices.

FRENCH DRESSING DE LUXE

(Basic Recipe)

1 tsp. salt. 1 tsp. dry mustard or 1 tbsp. prepared mustard
½ tsp. sugar
1 clove garlic, split in half or ¼ tsp. garlic salt
⅓ cup salad oil
⅓ cup vinegar or lemon juice

Mix together salt, mustard, sugar. Drop in the garlic, split in half (or add the garlic salt). Toss together. Add salad oil and vinegar or lemon juice. Mix well. Remove garlic.

VARIATIONS

Curry Dressing—Add ¼ tsp. curry powder to dry ingredients.

Coral Dressing—Add ½ to 1 tsp. paprika and a dash of cayenne or red pepper.

Herb Dressing—Add ¼ tsp. dried thyme or basil or rosemary or oregano along with ¼ tsp. minced parsley.

Vary the vinegars used; use cider vinegar seasoned with tarragon. (Tarragon may be purchased from your herb shop); use wine vinegar.

Not Campaigning in the "Usual" Sense

ON THE WAY TO REVIEW 7TH DIVISION
President Roosevelt, Gen. MacArthur and Adm. Leahy

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT has held his first conference in the Pacific theater of war, after more than two and a half years of war with Japan.

He is reported to have come away from this conference with two great emotions, one reflecting his firm conviction of ultimate victory over Japan and the other reflecting his awe at the accomplishments of the American armed forces.

Mr. Roosevelt would be alone among all Americans if he ever had any doubts about ultimate victory over Japan.

And all of the American people have been continuously and overwhelmingly awed by the accomplishments of their armed forces in the Pacific War, not because of recent events but throughout all the important and sometimes tragic events of the Pacific War.

President Roosevelt appears to have gone to Hawaii in fulfillment of the pledge made in his announcement of candidacy for re-election, when he said he was not going to campaign in the "usual" sense.

It is obviously his intention to campaign continuously and dramatically on the stage of war, with the total armed forces of the country as his supporting cast and with all the battle fronts of air, land and sea comprising his imposing backdrop.

In accordance with that intention, Mr. Roosevelt spanned the American continent to use the great naval base at San Diego as the sounding board for his acceptance of the Presidential nomination.

And now he has used the bristling Pacific arsenal of Hawaii and all of the vast organization for war in the Pacific, including all its commanders and training facilities, as props for the campaign he is running for re-election.

Let the American people make no mistake about the fact that President Roosevelt was RUNNING FOR RE-ELECTION when he went to Hawaii.

Why, otherwise, did he wait two and a half years to take a sufficient interest in the Pacific War to visit the theater of conflict in which the nation has for all that desperate and tragic time been fighting heroically and sacrificially for its very life?

Mr. Roosevelt did not wait two and a half years to visit the African theater of war in which the life of the British Empire was at stake.

He did not wait two and a half years to visit Teheran, on the fringes of the European theater of war in which the Russian Empire is fighting for its life.

MORE STRANGELY, while our Pacific theater of war is at last beginning to throb with offensive power, it is still INADEQUATELY SUPPLIED.

The fall of Hengyang in China, following upon the fall of Changsha, demonstrates the acuteness of our situation in the Pacific War as a whole and the direness of our need there.

The shocking and accusing scandal of Merrill's Marauders in Burma, where admittedly unfit and allegedly ill-armed men were sent into combat against the Japanese at Myitkyina, is a further demonstration.

Mr. Roosevelt had not waited two and a half years to strain for and achieve a condition of TOTAL ARMING in the war theaters where British and Russian destinies were at stake.

Only in a Presidential campaign, occurring after more than two and a half years of war, does the opportunistic Mr. Roosevelt discern that the acute interest of the American people is in the Pacific War and that the vital interests of America are [illegible] as well.

Washington Scene . .

By George Dixon

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15—There is a young lady society reporter in this town whose by-line is driving me nuts.

I can't get her name out of my head. Unconsciously, I make up jingles to rhyme with it and then keep repeating them over and over until my mind whirls.

People on the street, seeing me muttering to myself, have taken to making wide detours. In the office I have become an object of pity. Only a few minutes ago a girl from the home-making department came in and asked solicitously:

"Can't I get you something, maybe a nice, cool straitjacket?"

I had this happen to me only once before, when the Philadelphia Transit Co. had signs in all the trolleys reading "Give a cheer for Eddie Molen. Who always has a ready token."

But I understand it is no novel experience. Mark Twain wrote feelingly about it in a piece called "Punch, Brothers Punch." The great humorist reported he had been driven close to the abyss by a jingle: Also one he saw in a street car. The Twain tormentor ran:

"Conductor, when you receive a fare,
"Punch in the presence of the passenjare!
"A blue trip slip for an eight-cent fare,
"A buff trip slip for a six-cent fare,
"A pink trip slip for a three-cent fare,
"Punch in the presence of the passenjare!
CHORUS
"Punch, brothers! Punch with care!
"Punch in the presence of the passenjare!"

The jingle which I have created—and which is driving me stark, staring mad—goes:

"I want to play horsie
"With Achsah Bowie Dorsey!"

I AM GLAD they have lifted the news blackout on the doings of President Roosevelt. He has been around and about quite a bit. Now, if they will only tell me what has become of Mrs. Roosevelt—!

ORDINARILY, I DO not bother to answer the charges of other newspaper writers. It only means they will make a comeback retort which means getting my name in the papers, which is abhorrent.

BUT I do not feel I can leave go unanswered the vicious, if not unethical, attack of Mr. Lowell Mellett. Mr. Mellett has a sideline, writing three times a week for various publications. His real vocation, however, is standing in front of 1600 Pennsylvania ave., salaaming to the ground.

Until he made the startling discovery recently that there remains such a thing as private enterprise—with a little dough left to pay salaries, even if not much—Mr. Mellett was in the Government employ. He was head of the Office of Government Reports, which became the Office of Facts and Figures, which became the Office of War Information, which became fantastic.

Mr. Mellett continued on through all the changes and vicissitudes—he likes his vicissitudes with horseradish—and only retired from OWI on discovering there was a market for obfuscation outside the government.

Personally, Mr. Mellett is a very sweet guy. I have yet to meet anyone who held him in personal dislike. He goes around the National Press Club practically pouring out benedictions, and many have reported feeling finer, better men, merely because he beamed upon them.

But when he sits down to a typewriter he seems to hear voices—and all of them are President Roosevelt's. In fact, there have been rumors—which I hesitate to believe—that his stuff is ghost-written by Mr. Roosevelt and that Mr. Mellett only allows the use of his name because two Roosevelt columnists might be considered too many.

HOWEVER, the charge I wish to answer is this:

The Dies Committee discovered that Mr. Mellett had received a call from the Political Action Committee of the CIO. Mr. Mellett, in a very sarcastic vein, at variance with his character, admitted the rap but said the conversation had positively nothing to do with politics or even Communism.

The caller, he said, was C. B. Baldwin, assistant chairman of the PAC, and all Baldwin wanted to know was whether Lowell happened to know a newspaperman who might want a job.

Mr. Mellett obviously thought his reply was the big belly-laugh of 1944 because he reported it with a decided "this will kill you" air. He quoted himself as telling Baldwin.

The only newspaperman in Washington not working is George Dixon.

I do not mind admitting to being a loafer, but Mr. Mellett's crack would seem to imply that I am unemployed. I am employed regularly, although I—and obviously Mr. Mellett—often wonder why.

I do not think it is at all charitable of Mr. Mellett to go around attacking the underprivileged. It is really not my fault that I am a bum.

I am not so fortunate as Mr. Mellett. I do not have Sidney Hillman to keep me on my toes!

A NAVY NURSE wrote she would like to have the above quoted, but she didn't say why. I hope she isn't going to send it to her boy friend and worry the poor fellow . . . When Shakespeare asked "What's in a name?" and suggested what a thing was called was of minor importance he was somewhat off the beam. Take the muskrat for example. In Louisiana the name of this animal has been changed by law. It is now referred to as "marsh hare." During the meat shortage some citizens of Louisiana found the muskrat was good to eat. Restauranis began serving muskrat. The eatery maestros, however, found the "rat" in muskrat a handicap to its aavancement as a menu item. So the restaurants combined with the muskrat industry to ask the Louisiana Legislature to make it illegal to call a muskrat a muskrat. Hence the aforementioned law changing the name of the muskrat to "marsh hare."

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q—What do the star-gazers say about a Leo marrying a Leo? A—They say the signs are compatible. But, remember, I am just telling you what the star-gazers say. For myself, I do not believe a person contemplating marriage should pay the slightest heed to birth signs. Q—I agree with you that such stupid toasts as "here's how," "here's lookin' at you" and so on should be abandoned. Can you suggest a few toasts that might be substituted? A—Haven't the space to suggest "a few" toasts, but here is one:

Here's a health to those we love
And to those who love us, too,
To loves long since forgotten,
To love but just begun.
Here's a health to every lover,

Hollywood . . . . By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 15 — Just as I walked on the set of "Kitty," Paulette Goddard said to Constance Collier, "I'm going to have a baby." She looked up and saw me and said, "Oh, I only mean in the picture—don't print it."

Paulette Goddard

Dressed in a black gown of the 1724 period, Paulette looked very fetching. I watched her play a scene on a set with authentic furniture of that period.

She told me she expects to go overseas in six weeks, or as soon as "Kitty" is finished, to make a film for the British Government. "I'll stop in Indianapolis and see Burgess," she said. "He's stationed there." As we told you, Paulette's next is with Bob Hope, but I think the title, "My Favorite Brunette," is inspirational. Remember "My Favorite Blonde," with Madeleine Carroll and what a furore it created?

HER BAGS PACKED for two weeks at Lake Arrowhead, Connie Moore turned around and unpacked them. She was ready to leave when Charles R. Rogers called to ask her how she would like to have the romantic lead in "High Among the Stars," opposite Ralph Bellamy. Connie can dance and sing, and that's what she'll do to her heart's content in this gay musical. She will play the sister of Jane Powell, a talented girl, who made a sensation in her first movie, "Song of the Open Road."

BETTY FIELDS' contract with Paramount had a few more months to run and it has been abrogated by mutual consent. Paramount agreed because, at this writing they have no picture ready for her. But she has a grand job, the lead in "Duel in the Sun," opposite John Wayne. That's the Busch story and the one for which he was interested in getting Veronica Lake. I doubt very much whether Paramount will lend Veronica because they have such a heavy program lined up for her.

IT HASN'T HURT Susanna Foster one bit to walk around the "U" lot in those snappy "shorts" she wears in "Bowery to Broadway." A lot of people who had thought of Susie as a swell singer were suddenly awakened to the fact that her underpinnings compared very favorably with Betty Grable's. And the awakening has brought on an idea—an idea to star Susie in a big Technicolor musical titled "You're Wonderful." George Waggner will produce and it will be not unlike one of Grable's musicals at 20th, with the blonde Foster doing several dances as well as giving with the voice.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Lana Turner has been seeing Artie Shaw, to whom she was once wed. She has always had a soft spot in her heart for him and they were together at Hollywood Bowl, chaperoned by her mother; Don Ameche is in Chicago on a big radio deal; Ginny Simms is sharing Pat Nearney with Gloria De Haven, who seems to like him, too; Edgar Bergen, who arrived Sunday, will soon announce the name of Charlie's little sister, and someone will win a war bond. We are glad to tell this because the fans have been asking about it; Virginia Weidler is seeing the town with Lt. Leon Fisher of the Army; Dolores Moran had three boy friends at the "Wilson" premiere—Bill Girard, Steve Crane and Al Bloomingdale

Broadway . . . . By Dorothy Kilgallen

NEW YORK CITY, Aug. 15—A soldier reads a Broadway column because it makes him feel, for a few minutes, at least, like a civilian. He sits under a tree in a New Guinea jungle and the clipping flutters out of the letter from home and he reads about a chorus girl he hasn't seen, and for all the trivia it contains that paragraph is much more to him than small words in print seen through sweat.

It is a picture of something he doesn't want to forget and needs to remember: a pretty girl smiling across footlights, pretty legs kicking through a swirl of pretty skirts to the music of a gay, brand new tune. And the jungle recedes for a little while. Civilization and the dark blue suit with the pin stripe and the clean shirt put on after the hot shower and the apple pie for dessert and the bowling alley and the juke box at Nick's are all suddenly within reach. Just as suddenly, the mud and the bugs and the Japs are far away.

Or maybe he is riding in a truck on a dusty road in Italy, and he pulls the column out of his pocket and reads again the item about the jitterbugs at the Paramount and he grins sympathetically because he is a hep character himself and many is the time, many the wonderful time, he sat there in the first row himself and beat it out with the band for two shows straight.

THE FEW WORDS, so very non-earthshaking in content, are a big link with this G I's past, and so are the other items, the ones about the celebrities. Not that this G I knows any celebrities, or ever did; but when he was a civilian he used to read about them, and now that he is a soldier he likes to read about them just for that reason, just the way he would like to ride on a Main Street trolley car. For Auld Lang Syne.

And perhaps that is why, when the G I runs into a celebrity in the course of fighting the war, he has a tendency to write home about it to the columnist who has, in a way, been "writing" to him. Most soldiers have come across at least one "big name" in the armed forces. I thought it would be interesting to pass on their reactions, as they have come in in letters during the past few months.

Star Shine By Sidney Skolsky

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 15—Claudette Colbert's ambition is to keep on being an actress. She'll play any role, whether it be glamorous or not, just as long as it is a good part.

Claudette Colbert

She is now being seen as the mother in "Since You Went Away", a role many actresses would refuse for it would age them. Yet, in a picture waiting to be released, "Practically Yours", she returns to a glamorous character and is the love interest.

She just wants to keep on acting in stories that she likes and selects.

Her real name is Lily Chauchoin, and she was born in Paris on Sept. 13, 1905. She came to this country when she was five years old. She didn't change her name until she became an actress. She selected the name Colbert at the suggestion of her mother who remembered that a man named Colbert was Minister of Finance in France under Louis XV. She believed that from a money standpoint it might be good. It has been.

Claudette is 5 feet 4½ inches tall and weighs 108 pounds. She is not so tall as she appears on the screen. Her slender build and her special high heels make her seem taller.

She has been told that her legs are as good as Dietrich's, and she refers to them as "my own Dietrichs." She uses pale pink nail polish and manicures her own nails. She does her own hair, and uses only soap and water on her face.

When working in a picture, she always brings her own lunch. At the studio, she eats it in her dressing room, and lies down to relax afterward. On location, she brings her lunch box to the table with the others. She brings her own lunch because she's on a diet of fattening foods. She's one of the few actresses who keeps trying to put on weight.

She always puts on her own make-up when working in a picture. She is an expert at it. She's proud of the fact that she never had a feud with any actor, actress or director in Hollywood.

She has never been on time for an appointment, and is surprised when other people are.

ALTHOUGH SHE is regarded as one of Hollywood's best dressed actresses, she hasn't a wardrobe to compare with Rosalind Russell or Joan Crawford. When called to pose for a fashion sitting, she will says "But I haven't got a thing to wear." Whereupon she will phone either Mary Benny or Edie Goetz, her best friends, and borrow a dress from them.

Boston After Dark

SOMETHING NEW IN dance attractions looms with the news that Abe Lyman's crack outfit will soon be augmented by none other than Peter Lorre . . . The menacing Monsieur Lorre will not croon . . . He will go into his regular routine, which is familiar enough to radio audiences . . . Lyman, plus Lorre, came about when Gene Sheldon, one of the most promising of the newer crop of Broadway comedian-signers, withdrew from Abe's orchestra and joined Vaughn Monroe's . . . The "added attractions" in each band are to be used only for movie-house presentations.

JOHN GOLDEN is ready and willing to testify to the ingenuity of one Boston woman . . . The New York producer was on a one-night visit to Boston and passed the evening at the Colonial, where his comedy "3 Is a Family" is current . . . Between the acts, a friendly woman started to chat with Producer Golden . . . Without giving a hint that she knew the New Yorker, the woman asked him: "Have you a fountain pen, sir?" . . . Mr. Golden extended her his pen . . . "That's fine," said the Boston woman. "Now, Mr. Golden, may I have your autograph please?" . . . John signed, with a smile . . . "It's a new twist to the autograph business," he remarked.

JOHNNY JOHNSTON (getting back to him again) would be well advised, we think, to elide that interpolation of Coward's "I'll See You Again" in his rendition of "I'll Be Seeing You" . . . It calls to mind how dependent songwriters seem to be on their predecessors in creating ideas, and is distracting . . . "I'll Be Seeing You," and "I'll See You Again!" . . . Two titles couldn't be much closer.

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY: Mickey Redstone came back from New York with a notion that desserts in the Latin Quarter should be more varied, a nightclub thesis which this column has proposed occasionally in the past . . . Mickey decided to add a tasty item known as "graham cracker pie" to his menu, and was in consultation with his chef on the subject . . . Polly, the Quarter's bookkeeper, took a hand in the parley . . . "I can make wonderful graham-cracker pie," said she, and perhaps I can be of some help . . . The chef was willing . . . So was Mickey . . . So Polly whipped up a concoction, with the chef's help, and Manager Redstone awaited developments . . . "You must try some of it," Mickey suggested to a few friends some hours later . . . "It is really delicious—delicious chocolate pudding" he said . . . And he was not far wrong in the description

A PASSENGER is impressed by the real relaxation the Provincetown-Boston excursion gives to many persons who perhaps otherwise would not get away from the city for as much as one summer's day . . . You meet nice, friendly people to whom such a day-off evidently is a blessing . . . And it's a blessing to meet a number of human beings who haven't been jaded by an existence which makes a night club visit a necessity in the daily schedule.

Waste Paper Makes Bombs

Through their contributions to the waste paper salvage drive this month, Greater Boston residents have an opportunity to send their own bombs down upon Germany and Japan, Henry J. Smith, chairman of the Massachusetts Salvage Committee, announced today

Smith revealed that mills in this section have recently increased orders for paper bomb rings. Army Ordnance officals have announced that more than 700,000 tons of air bombs will be needed from now until the end of the year, as against 172,000 tons produced since Jan. 1

Each ton of air bombs requires approximately 20 pounds of paper, and New England's paper quota is 2,100,000 pounds.

Arlington JVA Routs Ragweed

Hay fever sufferers of Arlington are silently blessing the Wildcats, a 4-H Club and JVA corps of 12 boys and their adult sponsor, Henry E. Keenan, 801 Mass. ave.

A month ago the Wildcats started to clear their Victory Garden of ragweed as part of the Junior Victory Army's campaign. Their work has developed into a community-wide project now attracting national attention.

Through their enthusiasm and the enterprise of their leader, the project is rolling along with resources and strength of municipal officials, women's organizations, the Rotary, Kiwanis and Lions Clubs, and the local newspapers, the Arlington News and Arlington Advocate.

All children are being paid a cent a pound for ragweed brought to the scales at 899 Mass ave. Municipal trucks carry the stuff away. About 200 pounds are being brought in daily.

And the Red Sox management has presented its annual reward for young JVA soldiers. The Arlington boys and girls will be among the JVA children who may attend free the Red Sox-Cleveland game at Fenway Park on Tuesday, Aug. 22. Their red, white and blue membership cards OR insignia will be their ticket of admission along with 10 cents tax

Arrangements are being made with Bill Mullen, city recreation director, and JVA headquarters. Watch this column for further details.

To join the JVA, send your name, age and full address to Junior Victory Army, Box 238, Boston, Mass. If, in addition to enlistment, you want the JVA insignia pin and membership card, enclose a 10-cent coin, wrap well, in your letter.

Read the next JVA story in Wednesday's Daily Record.

'Sensations' Here Thurs.

"Sensations of 1945," starring Eleanor Powell, is announced for its first Boston showings at both Loew's State and Orpheum, beginning Thursday.

On the same bill will be Columbia's rip-roaring comedy, "She's a Soldier, Too," with Beulah Bondi, Nina Foch, Jess Barker, Lloyd Bridges, Percy Kilbride and Ida Moore.

Supporting Miss Powell are Dennis O'Keefe, W. C. Fields, Sophie Tucker, Eugene Pallette, Aubrey Smith, David Lichine and Woody Herman and Cab Calloway and their bands.

The story of "Sensations" tells of Ginny Walker, portrayed by Miss Powell, a quick-thinking press agent whose stunts range from getting herself shot at to arranging a wire-walking act over the Royal Gorge in Colorado and blocking traffic at Times Square. With her hot copy ideas she takes over the management of an agency and proceeds to run it according to her conscience.

Eleanor gets ample opportunity to do her art tap dancing. Besides a jitterbug number she does a newly created "pin ball machine" number in which she dances over a giant pin ball machine.

Pepper Has Plan For Foreign Treaties

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—Sen. Pepper (D) of Florida today announced executive agreements by the President replace Senate-ratified treaties.

Presidential agreements, under

CALM DOWN, JACK, I AIN'T GONNA HOIT YUH—ME AN YOU ARE GONNA HAVE A NICE LIL RIDE, BUT YER ACTIN LIKE I'M PULLIN A SHARK!
YOU FIRST MAN EVER CALLED THUNDERBOLT A HORSE! YOU'RE GREAT CHIEF RAY WHITE!
NOW TO REEL HIM IN FOR A RIDE

tax plan, would be subject to Senate ratification of two-thirds Senate majority and House majority approval treaty ratification.

Abbott, Costello on Screen Here

Abbott and Costello return to the screen in a riotous comedy called "In Society." With them are Arthur Treacher, Marion Hutton and Will O-borne. It happens at the Keith Memorial on Wednesday.

"Curse of the Cat People" with Simone Simon, Kent Smith and Jane Randolph is also billed.

In their first film in more than a year, Abbott and Costello portray two plumbers who are called to the home of a society woman. They arrive during a masquerade and costume ball dressed naturally as plumbers but are mistaken for guests.

The things that happen there after could only happen to Abbott and Costello.

Mintlock at Top Of Form in Victory

By JACK CONWAY

AT THE NARRAGANSETT Park opening Charley Ruff's Mintlock continued to show the fine form of his winning Rockingham Park races as he went on to take The Block Island, six furlongs feature . . . Merle Simmons, by careful handling, has kept Mintlock, who was claimed last fall for $2500, at the top of his form . . . Mintlock and First Fiddle, also claimed for $2500, have paid huge dividends to their new owners.

Jockey Claggett, who was up on the odds on Mintlock, was also the rider on Smart Bet, another odds on choice who won . . . Smart Bet, running from No. 2 post position, broke slowly, but was able to get through on the rail . . . Once Smart Bet got out front he was never in danger . . . Voucher, who finished second, ran a good race . . . Esta, winner of the eighth race, finally got up in time to take top honors . . . In two races at Rockingham, Esta just missed winning, and then ran out of the money . . . Jockey Jenkins finally scored a triumph with I. J. White's horse.

Jockey Claggett

The mutuel handle hit $665,751 despite the intense heat . . . Narragansett is certain to have one of the biggest summer meetings in its history.

The racing plant was dolled up, while the track was fast and in perfect condition . . . Norman Charlton, John P. Turner and "Hap" Fenelon, stewards, kept things moving along smoothly.

Notables at Races

THERE WERE officers and men from the various branches of the armed services at the races . . . Judge James E. Dooley and Mrs. Dooley entertained a party of friends at the Terrace Club . . . Charles Connors, chairman of the board, and Mrs. Connors had Judge Joseph Moynahan of the Middlesex Probate Court as one of their Juncheon guests. Also present were Lou Smith, directing head of Rockingham accompained by the charming Mrs. Smith.

Joe Rittenger, famous inventor, took the afternoon off to attend the races . . . Many of Rittenger's inventions are being used by the government in its all out war effort . . . Joe complimented Walter Howey, Editor of the Hearst Boston newspapers, on his many inventions which are being used to fight the Axis . . . As soon as the United States entered the war, Editor Howey turned over all of his inventions to Uncle Sam and refused to take a single cent in compensation.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank O'Donnell of North Scituate and a party of friends were at the Terrace Club . . . O'Donnell is a director of the track . . . I saw Director Lamarine cashing a few winning tickets . . . He looked fine and was happy racing is back in Rhode Island.

Judge McMahon was all over the big racing plant greeting friends and doing what he could to make racegoers more comfortable.

Charley Mungie, circulation director of the Hearst Boston newspapers, combined pleasure with business . . . While he cashed winning tickets on Vaidina Bina, Smart Bet and Mintlock. He received reports that the Green Race Special of the Boston American had set a new high in sales for a summer opening at Narragansett Park.

Daily Double

THE CHANGE in the daily double rule was well received by racegoers and the press . . . In the event of a horse being scratched in the second half of the double, holders of the winning horse in the first race who had their choice coupled with the scratched horse will share in a separate pool . . . This will be composed of all money wagered where the scratched horse was part of the combination.

It is a new idea and it should eliminate some of the present dissatisfaction with the daily double rule that has been in effect . . . The Rhode Island Racing Commission has approved the change of the daily double rule.

Good Old Kentucky Boy Joins Yankees

The missing ace to round out an All-Star backfield of National League greats for the Boston Yanks has been found in Bob Davis, the pride of Kentucky. This newcomer who has been secured from the Philadelphia Eagles has just been signed. He is expected to report late today at the Yanks headquarters at Dean Academy in Franklin where Head Coach Kopf met his squad formally for the first time at noon.

O'Neil Has It!

One month ago Emmett O'Neill, right-handed pitcher of the Red Sox, was a depressed, discouraged and seemingly frustrated hurler. He could get no where. His pals on the Sox team, appreciating that the kid has everything but faith and confidence in himself rallied to his support. This pinch-hitting writer knowing the conditions, strung along with a story, urging support for this grand prospect.

Emmett's eyes popped. He had discovered himself among real and sincere friends. Since that time this graduate of St. Mary's College on the West Coast which gave us the immortal Harry Hooper years ago won four straight games for the Red Sox. In his last three games Emmett has yielded only 13 hits, which in itself must be something of a 1944 record.

Only two runners have scored on him in 29 innings. In yesterday's winning 5-1 battle with the Browns he allowed only one St. Louis runner to pass first base up to the ninth.

Emmett O'Neill, you have found yourself.

Keep up the glorious work.

—Fred Hoey

Up to Yank Terry to Keep Browns in Kennel

By BILL GRIMES

After the fine game that Emmett O'Neill turned in yesterday, it's now up to Yank Terry to give the Red Sox a three and one edge over the St. Louis Browns in the four-game series which winds up this afternoon.

On his last time out, Terry pitched winning ball after the opening inning against the White Sox. From the first through the sixth rounds, he allowed only three hits and one run, which was set up by an infield error. But, despite the fact, Yank raced around the bases in the sixth and shot his bolt. He was lifted in the 7th and then Paig Hose annexed their first game of the season at Fenway Park, when Clem Hausmann developed a wild streak and walked over the winning run.

The Red Sox are five and one half games behind the Browns. A victory this afternoon will close that gap a full game.

Manager Luke Sewell will use Sig Jakucki, who has turned in ten wins for him this season, Jakucki is a discharged soldier. He was in the Army for four years but came out of a Houston, Texas munition plant to join the Browns this season. Some years ago, Jakuci belonged to the Browns but he was so wild that the club refused to exercise its option and turned him loose.

O'NEIL WAS SWELL

The Browns were high when they hit town last Sunday, for they had just taken three out of four from the Yankees. They began to slip back during the opening game of Sunday's double header, which the Red Sox took in the 13th inning. However, they jumped on "Pinkie" Woods in the abbreviated nightcap and won 6 to 1. But, Emmett O'Neill cooled them off again yesterday, to the tune of 5 to 1.

O'Neill had beaten Detroit, Washington, Chicago and St. Louis in succession. And, even more important, he has looked better every time he has taken over the pitching assignment. He was great yesterday.

Until the ninth inning, O'Neil allowed only two hits, both by Don Gutteridge. But, with a five run lead, he eased up and a George McQuinn two bagger on which Leon Culberson made a remarkably fine try to grab, and a single by "Junior" Stephens robbed him of a well deserved shut out.

Predict Wide Open College Game in '44

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (AP)—A wide-open college football season, filled with spectacular plays, appeared today to be just around the corner.

Following months of muttering against the policy of the National Collegiate A. A. that rules would not be changed for the duration, the Eastern Intercollegiate Association yesterday openly adopted six rules changes for the coming season.

This was the latest manifestation in a movement that has resulted in "gentlemen's agreements" among the teams of major conferences throughout the country, a movement designed to bypass the NCAA contention that the rules had been frozen until the end of the war.

The six rule changes, that Asa Bushnell, commissioner of the EIFA asserted "will make college football the most interesting and exciting game ever played on the gridiron" were:

1—Teams kicking out of bounds will be penalized five yards each time until a legal kick is made.

2—Permit useof one-inch artificial tee for kickoffs.

3—Permit forwarding passing from any point behind the scrimmage line.

4—Lessened severity of penalties for illegal forward pass when made beyond line of scrimmage.

5—Clarified offside ruling by eliminating clause there can be no "both teams offside."

6—Permit all fumbled balls to be advanced by opponents. At present the ball is dead at point of recovery.

These changes will be put into effect by the 30 members of the association, including such major mouth, Colgate, Army, Cornell, Navy, Penn State, Pittsburgh, Temple, Villanova and Yale.

Tennis Queens to Meet at Longwood

The greatest possible field of the country's leading women tennis players, and the most outstanding list of Veterans seen on New England courts in many a decade will be on hand when the National Veterans' Singles and Doubles Championships and the Women's Invitation tournament begin on the grass courts of the Longwood Cricket Club this morning.

More than twenty-three doubles teams and at least thirty-five singles players have filed entry applications with Mr. Ralph H. Osborn, chairman of the Veterans' tournament which will be held under the auspices of the United States Lawn Tennis Association.

These are led by William Nassau of Philadelphia, defending singles champion, and Watson M. Washburn and Arthur W. MacPherson, the defending doubles team. The Women's Invitation tourney, which will be a preview of the national women's championship to be held at Forest Hills two weeks hence, is headed by national champion Pauline Betz of Los Angeles and includes almost every ranking woman player in the country.

Among those who have already accepted Mrs. Hazel Hotchkiss Wightman's invitation are second ranking Louise Brough, runner-up to Miss Betz in the nationals last Labor Day at Forest Hills, and Dorothy Bundy, fifth on the national roster, who has defeated the champion twice this season, in the finals of Clay Court tourney at Detroit and again in Delaware.

Dartmouth V-12's After Swim Honors

By MIKE GILLOOLY

A quartet of V-12's from Dartmouth College and an octet of Bunker Hill Boys' Club members made sure they wouldn't be shut out of the Record-American-Sunday Advertiser championship swimming meet by easily whipping the deadline on entries for the festival Sunday afternoon at Carson Beach, South Boston.

Entries for this water carnival, to be held in conjunction with the Boston Park Department through the co-operation of Commissioner Henry Long and Director Billy Mullen, will close with the midnight post-mark tonight.

Hanover's representation will be concentrated in John Sorman, Robert Aaron, John Mann and John Sorensen. Sorman will be seeking honors in the 100-meter open breast stroke ; Aaron will double up in the 100-meter breast stroke open and 100-meter freestyle exclusively for service men; Mann will go in the 100-meter NEAAAU senior backstroke championship, while Jorgensen will do twin duty in the 440 free style open, and the 100-meter free style, open.

The non-sinkables from Bunker Hill will list: John Suckiel, Robert Buckley and Fran Moran in the NEAAAU title affair; Ken Robinson in the 100-meter free style; Suckiel in the 100-meter breast stroke; John O'Brien, Harry Murphy, Fred Sullivan and Moran in the 440-yards free style and Richard Wilkins in the 50-meter free style for 10-11 year olds.

EVEN KIDS HAVE CHANCE

Competition will be open for every type swimmer from the kid novices to the experienced veteran. Other events include: For women and girls—New England A. A. A. U. senior 880-yard free-style championship with the Mayor Maurice Tobin Trophy as a further inducement for the winner; NEAAAU senior 100-meter breaststroke; NEAAAU junior 50-meter free style; 100-meter free style, open; 100-meter backstroke open; 50-meter free style for servicewomen and 50-meter free style for 10-11, 12-13-year-olds. Other boys' events list 50-meter free style for 10-11, 12-13, 14-15-year-olds.

Entries may be filed with the Swimming Editor, Boston American, 5 Winthrop sq., Boston 8 Mass. Competitors will be limited to two events. So please specify your choice of races.

Casey Awaits Park Winner

Barring a tie, the semi final round of the Park league playoffs should end tonight when Linehan Club and Watertown Arsenal play the rubber game of their series to see which one meets the Dick Casey Club in the finals, at Healy Field, Roslindale.

The Linehans got away to a fast start by winning the first game last week but the Arsenal drew up even last night when it handed the South Boston club a nifty 8-1 shellacking.

The Arsenal is riding the crest now having taken the evener at the hostiles park and now feel that they are in seeing tonight's game is at home.

Lou Strecker upset all the dope last night by pitching himself and tonight he still has Will Jackman or Chuck Edgerly to send to the mound.

Benson used his two schoolboy aces in the second game but he has Joe McKinney, the workhorse of the club.

'Romeo' Paris in Dilboy's Show

Bob "Romeo" Paris, former New England champion, and a complete team of U. S. Navy fighters from South Boston base, anxious to help the drive to aid fellow servicemen, have filed entries for the amateur boxing program to be held tomorrow night at Dilboy Field, Somerville, by the George Dilboy Post, V. F. W.

All proceeds of this charity program will be turned over to the Record-American-Sunday Advertiser drive for funds for gifts to ailing and disabled veterans of World War II stationed in this area.

Paris, now a defense worker in Greater Boston, will be making his first start of the year, virtually coming out of retirement for this worthy cause. He'll be up against a classy field, dominated by Frank Perry, Hyde Park, son of the former light-heavyweight favorite, George Perry; Henry Czyrkis, Sudan A. C., Dorchester, and Matt Robinson, U. S. Navy.

And then too, there'll be the Navy representative to contest honors. This serviceman's team, working out last Saturday at the base, so impressed Director Fred Russo that he felt it would be closely rivalling the Quonset Point, Navy team which has been forced to cancel its entry list because of other duties.

Competition will be in the 118, 126, 135, 147, 160, 175 and heavyweight classes. Entries may be filled with Fred Russo, 371 Summer st., Somerville.

Great Alsab Bids Farewell to Racing

Alsab, the $700 bargain colt who won $349,815 and twice beat the famous Whirlaway, says farewell to racing today at Washington Park in Chicago.

With his owners, Mr. and Mrs. Al Sabath and Trainer Sarge Swenke looking on, Alsab will be brought out between the fifth and sixth races for a "goodbye" exhibition gallop.

Plans call for him to be bedecked with a floral wreath in the winner's circle after which he will be shipped to the Alsab farm, near Lexington, Ky.

It was decided several weeks ago to retire the son of Good Goods to stud.

Bobby Doerr Is League Leader

CHICAGO, Aug. 15 (AP)—Boston's Bobby Doerr took undisputed possession of the American League's top batting spot this week, raising his average three points to .330, while Dick Siebert of Philadelphia gained only two for a .329 mark. The two were deadlocked last week.

Pete Fox of the Red Sox hung on to third place by maintaining his .320 clip as Lou Boudreau of Cleveland and Bob Johnson of Boston remained in fourth and fifth places with .317 and .308 respectively.

Doerr continued to lead in three specialized departments. The Red Sox second baseman has scored the most runs, 86, hit the most home runs, 15, and accounted for the most base hits, 136.

Rex Cecil Proved He Had the Spirit

Just before noon yesterday, when the heat was really bearing down, Rex Cecil, the latest acquisition to the Red Sox pitching corps, was running from foul line to foul line at Fenway Park . . . He figured that after a four-day layoff his legs needed some exercise.

The Schriners' band and the members of the Aleppo Temple put on their usual fine show.

Lieut. Paul O'Brien, who just returned from a long stay in the Pacific with Uncle Sam's Navy, watched the game from the press coop with his father, Dr. Eddie O'Brien . . . Oscar Judd underwent another check-up by Dr. Tommy Richards, yesterday morning.

Bob Johnson, with a "charlie horse" in his left leg, Hal Wagner, with a bad finger and possibly a cracked bone in his foot, Lou Finney, with a sprained elbow and Pete Fox, with a "poop" in the calf of his left leg, were all patients of "Doc" Win Green yesterday morning.

Just before the start of the game, the heat wave was broken and the change in the temperature pepped up the members of both clubs . . . It was a Godsend.

Tommy Daly, the Red Sox scout, has completely recovered from his recent illness and is ready to hit the road again.

Despite the heat, Hugh Duffy had his charges out for morning practise . . . And, if the truth was known, the kids didn't weather the heat as well as the veteran, who is in his late 70s.
